

-
- An aerial photograph of a large, deep blue reservoir surrounded by arid, brown mountains. In the foreground, a sandy beach area leads to a large, organized boat harbor. The harbor features numerous long, rectangular floating docks arranged in rows, each filled with hundreds of small, colorful boats. A long pier extends from the shore into the water. The background shows rugged, layered mountain ranges under a clear sky.
- Gail Gripentog-Kaiser
  - Las Vegas Boat Harbor
  - Family owned and operated Since 1957
  - An authorized concession of the National Park Service

Bob relaxing

after a day
of work

Betty enjoying Lake Mead

Bob, Betty,
Linda,
Gail, Bob
Lake Mead
Is our life

SEP • 58 •

The 1st dock with moorings

Mom
Gripentog
at 1st Lunch Counter

Low water due to the filling of Lake
Powell 1088.14

1964

Water on the way back up
1129.74

1965

Our shop partially
under water

Level above high water

1222.17

1983

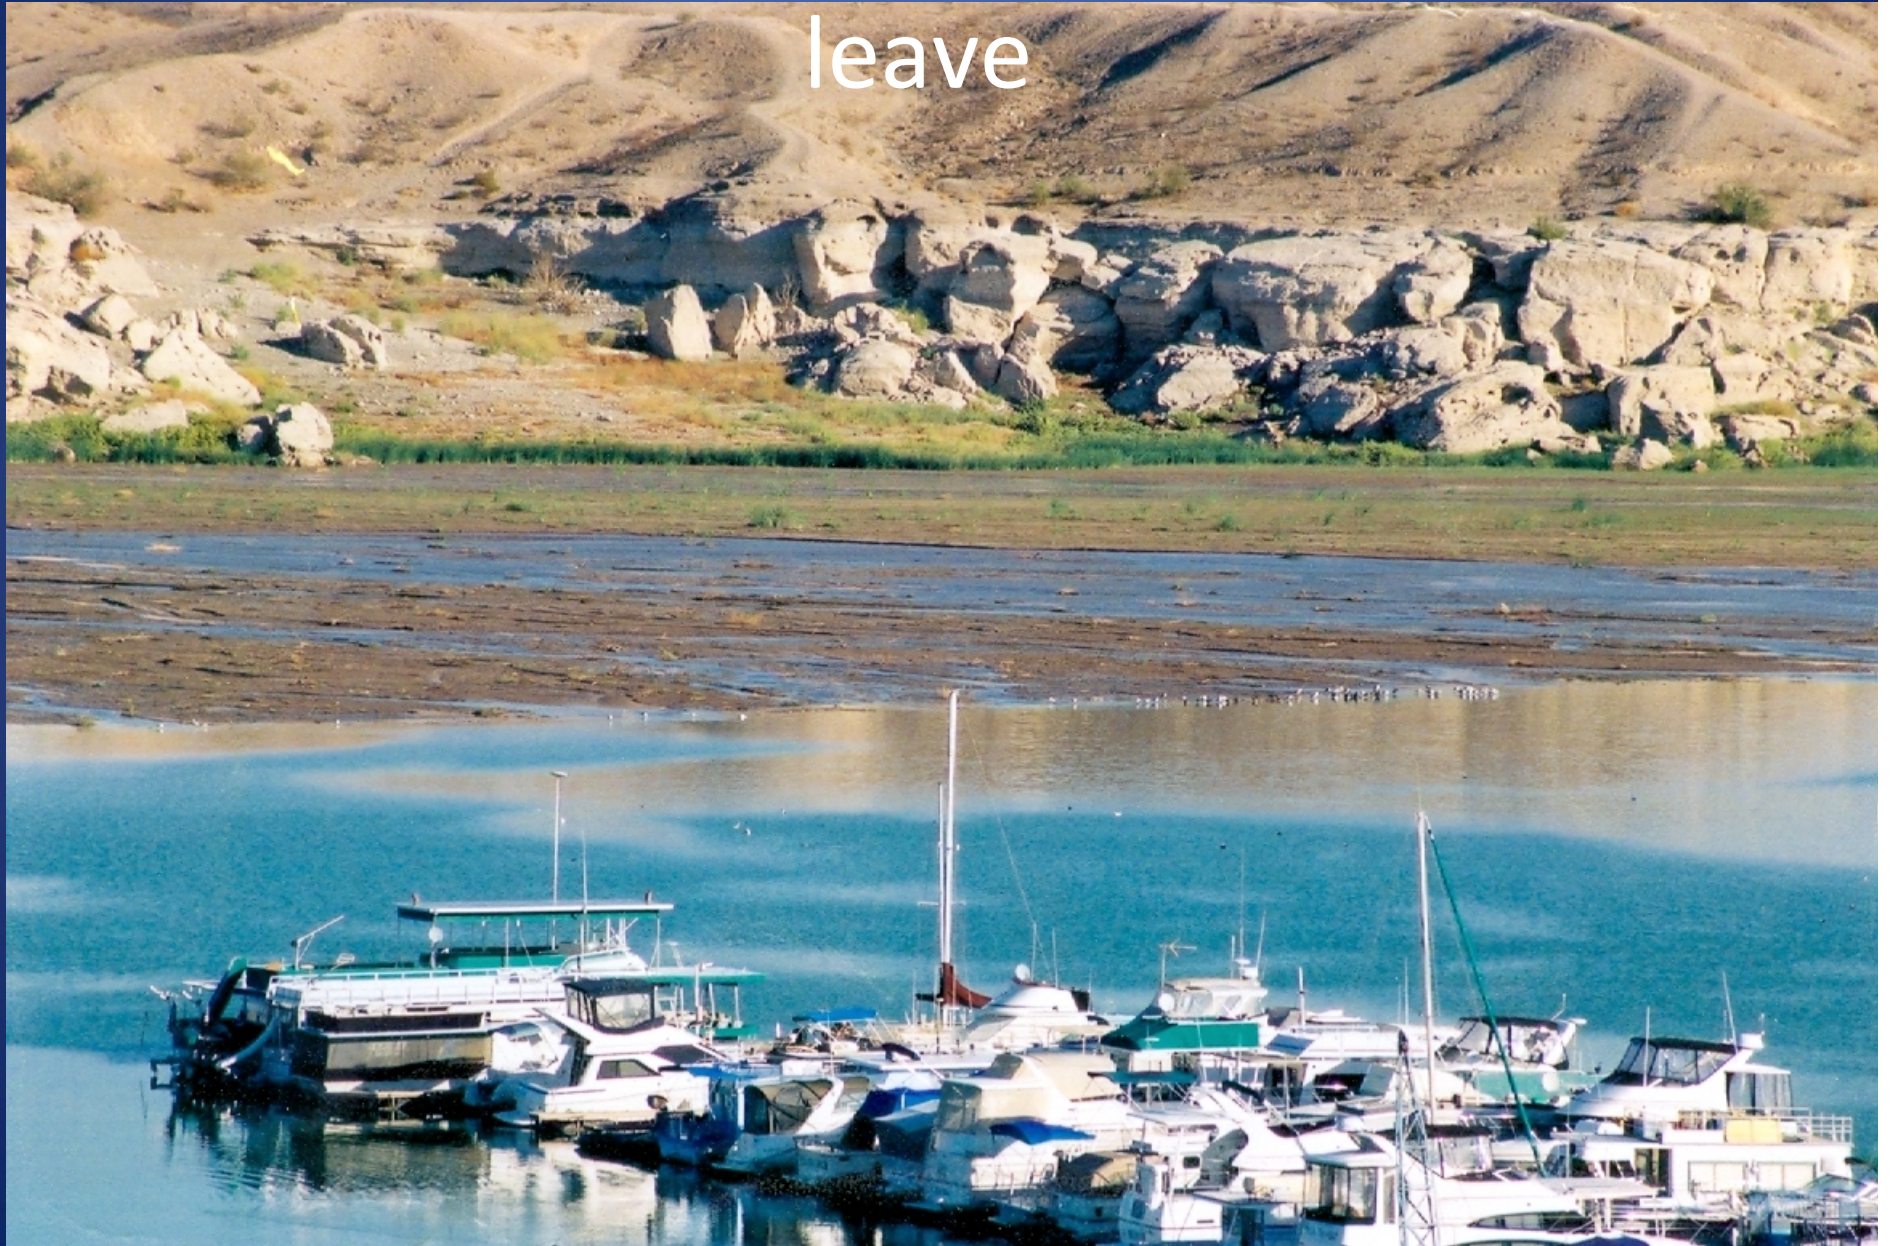

Operating as normal at Las Vegas Bay
with WATER

The Las Vegas Wash

Closing in on all sides must to time to leave

March
26
2002
Decision
made must move

Las Vegas Bay is Shrinking

Pretty tight quarter

WE'RE GETTIN' THE FLOCK OUTTA' HERE

HORSEPOWER COVE OR BUST

LAS VEGAS BAY MARINA

Overlay Text

Hemenway Harbor 2002
Before the Move...

Preparing Hemenway

Gail watches as N Dock heads away from the Las Vegas Bay

N dock in place at Hemenway

Overlay Text
Overlay Text

The 1st piece of dock
for slips and store
for the Boat Harbor

Building More Docks

Overlay Text

Waiting for the second section to arrive

Late at Night

Store, Cafe, and Dock Moving Away

Linda driving one of the pushing boats